1. Scope of application

This voluntary limited warranty applies to the SolMate 3 product (hereafter: "SolMate 3", "product" or "device") and its components purchased through authorized sales channels. It supplements the statutory warranty rights and does not restrict them.

The original purchaser is defined as the natural or legal person who purchased the product directly from EET – Efficient Energy Technology GmbH (hereafter: "EET") or from one of EET's authorized resellers and who uses it as the end user.

Any liability for direct or indirect damage that has not occurred directly to the product itself, such as lost profits, production downtime, power failure, or damage to third parties, is excluded to the extent permitted by law.

SolMate 3 is covered by a limited warranty from the date of invoice for a default period of 10 years or 6000 charge cycles at 90% depth-of-discharge (whichever comes first), or an extended period of 15 years or 6000 charge cycles at 90% depth-of-discharge (whichever comes first). During the warranty period, Solmate 3 will be free from defects, and will retain 80% energy capacity. This warranty covers the physical components of the product and its local, standalone functionality as defined in the user manual.

3. Warranty services

The decision on the measure lies exclusively with EET. There is no entitlement to a specific form of remedying the defects.

The costs of removal and reinstallation, as well as shipping of the defective product to EET and shipping the product back to the original purchaser of the product, are not covered by this warranty unless agreed upon in a separate service contract.
